This fish is a native of the Famous Death Valley of California, and is found living under very variable conditions in temperatures ranging from 32 degrees to 110 degrees, and also in both fresh and strongly brackish water. A very interesting article on these fish appeared in the Nature Magazine for July 1932. These that I offer are tank raised and thoroughly acclimated to Aquarium conditions.
Red Copenhagen snails $\frac{3}{4}$ inches and over.....	1.00		6.50
These are guaranteed free from white spot and other shell parasites, they are indeed the best lot of Copenhagen snails I have ever seen on the Pacific Coast.
